3-01/010.60 - Conflict of Orders

In the event of a conflict of orders, members shall respectfully call such conflict to the attention of the supervisor giving the last order. Should the latter not change his order, the order shall be obeyed. The member shall not be held responsible for disobedience of any former order or for any violation of the rules in obeying the last order given.