Chapter 7 - Jury Trials

In any court action, whether civil or criminal, when all parties are present before the court and answer ready for trial, they are indicating to the trial judge that they are prepared to select a jury and present their case. Upon this notification to the court, the bailiff must prepare for the responsibilities in the handling of that trial.