

3-01/090.00 Personnel Screening Procedures and Allowable Property

This policy shall apply to all persons working, volunteering, or touring the secured area of any custody facility. All personal property shall be accounted for at all times and shall not be stored in any area accessible to inmates.

Screening Procedures

A physical inspection and screening of all personal property for contraband may be conducted at any time at the discretion of each respective facility. Unit commanders shall develop unit orders delineating specific screening and auditing procedures which shall be conducted at a minimum of twice per week, per shift. A supervisor shall be present when screenings are conducted.

When conducting a screening, and in an effort to conduct thorough and effective searches for contraband, screening personnel may reach into any bag or container for the purpose of shifting or repositioning contents to allow for visual inspection of all compartments within. If personal property stored within the personal bag is in a separate container, the container shall be transparent, including food containers. Non-transparent water bottles are subject to visual inspection.

Refusals

The watch commander shall respond to any Department employee who refuses to have their personal property searched and give the employee a direct, clear, and unambiguous order to comply with the search. If a Department employee refuses to have their property searched, the unit commander shall be notified.

If a non-Department employee, vendor, visitor, volunteer, or other person refuses to have their personal property searched before entering a facility, the watch commander shall respond and attempt to gain compliance with the search. If the non-Department employee, vendor, visitor, volunteer, or other person continues to refuse the search, they shall be denied entry into the facility. The respective chief and unit commander shall be notified of any person who refuses to be searched.
